

Big Basin Acoustic

Bundy Browne and Rick Sigman form a musical fusion of Americana styles combining Rhythm & Blues and Country-Bluegrass along with original songs from their latest CD.

Bundy Browne – Acoustic guitar, mandolin, vocals

Bundy began his professional career playing mandolin for the Bay-Area based country band, Shagbark Hickory. His musical styles can be traced back to bluegrass and blues. He's played alongside notable musicians such as Deacon Jones, John Lee Hooker, Robben Ford and Larry Carlton.

Rick Sigman – Acoustic Guitar, Vocals.

In 1978, Rick formed the acoustic/electric jazz fusion band "Expresso" which recorded and produced their first Album "First Cup" and follow up CD, "2nd Wind". Their album's extensive airplay led to the band playing shows with such artists as Albert King, Taj Mahal, Roy Buchanan, Tom Scott, Robben and Mark Ford, David Lindley, Larry Carlton, Norton Buffalo, The Dixie Dregs, Eric Johnson and Stevie Ray Vaughn.
